I. 次の英文を読み、問いに答えなさい。

It happened one day in 1938 in Otopol, at the Soviet border of Manchuria. In the extreme cold temperatures below 20 degrees, a large number of 1)Jewish people trying to escape from the Nazi prosecution were being held up because the Immigration Office of Manchuria refused to give them visas to move into the country, 2)due to their concerns for dire consequences from Germany. The Jewish refugees were desperate, but there was no country or organization that dared to extend assistance to them. They were at a dead end. They could neither go back (3) proceed. Every possibility had been exhausted but still they could see no way out.

Everyone was beginning to feel a sense of hopelessness,when (4) seemed to be Divine Intervention came to pass. A Japanese man by the name of General Kiichiro Higuchi with the Imperial Japanese Army, was so brave and noble as to step in despite all possible obstacles. He firmly believed that the Jewish people deserved to be treated as human beings as equal as any other ethnic group on the earth. He provided the Jewish refugees with daily necessities 5)and went so far as to make it possible for them to use the Manchuria Railway for free. Thus General Higuchi saved the lives of the Jewish people on the verge of freezing to death, whose number is now estimated to be up to twenty thousand. 6)The way they used to escape from the Nazi came to be called "Higuchi Route".

Naturally, there were serious complaints from the German government about what Higuchi had done, which was regarded as " an act of betrayal 7)that shouldn't have happened". General Higuchi was summoned by Major General Hideki Tojo, who was in a position to supervise him. The conclusion they reached was not only surprising, but 8)(also / makes / it / feel / proud / me / them / of). They agreed that Japan was an independent country, not subject to Hitler or the German government, and that what Higuchi had done was absolutely right in view of Humanitarianism as well as The code of the Samurai.

Now you know that there was a man named Kiichiro Higuchi, (9) that he saved up to twenty thousand Jewish people in every way that a person can be saved. His name is inscribed in “the Golden Book” exhibited in Jerusalem, which contains names of those who contributed to and helped save the Jewish nation. “Cherry among flowers, Samurai among men.” is the most suitable (though rather old fashioned) phrase that I can think of to describe and pay due respect to this old-time warrior, who travelled in time from the distant past into the 20th century.

the Soviet border of Manchuria：(旧)ソビエトと(旧)満州国との国境 prosecution：迫害 dire consequences：(報復などの) 深刻な結果 Divine Intervention：天の助け was summoned：呼び出された Humanitarianism： 人道主義 The code of the Samurai： 武士道 due respect： 相応の敬意 (注：救出された難民の総数については諸説あります。)
